

Empowering the youth of Lee's Summit for their transition to life after high school

The Packing Party

June 19, 2018

6:30-9:30pm

The Stanley, Downtown Lee's Summit

This event is a celebration gala for Lee's Summit girls in the class of 2018. While we want the girls to feel celebrated, our real purpose is to start a significant conversation with them about the reality of sexual assault on college campuses and how to minimize their exposure to it. To further support this goal, we also address common stress factors and healthy ways of coping with them. And to keep the evening from being too heavy, we have fun vendors, games, give aways and other interactive elements. Segments include:

- Coping Strategies: Achieving Mental and Emotional Resiliency
- Sexual Assault Prevention through Engagement: an interactive presentation from MOCSA on sexual assault, risk factors and strategies for minimizing risk
- Q&A session for the girls: Panel of current college juniors and seniors
- Q&A session for mothers: Panel of mothers who have some experience sending their children to college
- Light-hearted information offered through a Vendor Area during registration and reception

Mission of Launch: Provide training that influences the beliefs and behaviors of recent high school graduates, particularly as it relates to the prevention of sexual assault

Goal of The Packing Party: Create a safe environment that is relevant and relatable. Our ability to affect the beliefs of our audience is dependent upon their perception of our credibility and their willingness to listen to and adopt these principles and strategies as their own.

We are excited to offer this event again. The results we have captured from The Packing Party 2017 encourage us in the urgency of our purpose.
